

Transea: 1995

Places of Note

Major City Locations

Gateway Dockyards – Large section along the Mississippi river that was originally purchased by the state to build the Gateway Arch. Then after it was decided to build in St. Louis instead the area was then changed into a city owned commercial venture for shipping.

Sisters of Mercy Hospital – Rated one of the best hospitals in the Midwest.

Southern City Shopping Complex – Three stories of shopping, dining and fun for the family.

Transea University – What was once a small community college has blossomed over the decades into a full university with a lot of thanks to Philanthropist Inc and their generous donations.

Arts and Entertainment

Pyramid Gallery – Art gallery that showcases local artists. Also has a small display of oddities and strange objects.

Theater Mondo – A renovated theater that leans into 70's style performance arts and plays that would never make it on the mainstream.

Popular Dining/Eateries

A Taste of Warsaw – Popular restaurant that has deep flavors in Polish dishes.

Frog Dogs – Very much a dive restaurant that seems to attract cops and criminals. Lately college students go there on a dare to eat since it's a bad section of town.

Heart of Darkness Cafe – Fast becoming one of the favorites for college students. A goth inspired cafe and coffee shop with plenty of seating and dark corners.

Night Entertainment and Clubs

Club Riakon – Popular strip club that has become the defining 'go to' for most fraternities.

Maximum Black – A goth and industrial club.

Tech Noir – Cramped little dance club with lots of neon.

The Storm – A pretty generic dance club that does seem to bring in some good live bands.

Misc Businesses and Organizations

Philanthropist Inc. - A collection of eclectic millionaires who gather occasionally to “help plan how to help the world around them”, well most people think they just gather to party and drink. They have a public museum and gallery in the front with a private very private club in the upper floors.

Strong Industries – Leading US company in the business of civil engineering with a specialty in demolitions.

Transea Mental Health Institution – A mental asylum closed in the late seventies as part of the deinstitutionalization that took place over two decades. Never repurposed for another use and slowly falling apart. Rumor of it being haunted, den of a criminal gang, etc are always rampant.
